Williamstown.

In answer to inquiries, the publishers desire to say that copies of the Old Home Week edition of the WATCHMAN are for sale by Roscoe Lynde.

We have not yet "made up" with our pen for its aspect not speaking last week in its library centennial item, of that pleasant feature of the occasion, the original poem by Rev. Frances A. Kimball. One of Maine's daughters, loaned us for a time, she carries in her breast the genuine "New England spirit" that must kindle any time and anywhere that a New England "old home week" is being observed.

It is intimated that there may yet be printed a pamphlet containing quite a complete report of the sayings and doings of our late centennial. It would surely be enjoyed by present and former residents of the place.

Prof. Otten H. Smith, in his response to the sentiment, "Our Sons and Daughters," at our centennial, paid high tribute to the late Dr. Martin Luther of New York city, son of the late Judge Elijah Paine, for work done in his profession; as also to the late Thomas Davenport, a pioneer in electrical work, if not the real inventor of the telephone, both natives of Williamstown. It would have been no easy task at that time for any one to measure and give due credit to the work done by all the lovers and laborers in connection with the earlier history of our town library. But the conspicuous work of our long time physician, the late Dr. N. W. Perry, must certainly have been remembered, though he was not alone in the galaxy of these heroes.

James, son of Ervin H. Martin, proposes to visit the Pan-American next week. Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Briggs may go later. Rev. Canon Adams and family will be there last week on their way home to Detroit.

Miss Lora, daughter of Frank Martin, will teach again the coming season in the Williamstown district.

Druggist George E. Adams of Fair Haven, Vt., and Mrs. Charles Adams of Detroit and Mrs. John Adams and daughter had a pleasant visit to the old home farm, (known to us as the A. S. Simmons farm) in the northwest section of the town, last week, the day ending with a hearty welcome and supper at the home of their old neighbor, George L. Williams.

Mrs. Denison Martin has just had the pleasure of a visit from her son George Martin of Washington, D. C., for the first time. Mr. Merrill Martin, is a principal assessor in the United States mint at San Francisco, where he has a salary of $1900 a year. We are glad to note that the trouble about the eyes of George Martin's eyes, that seemed so threatening a few years ago has apparently yielded to skillful surgery.

After an absence of several years James S. Abbott of Washington, D. C., Mr. Martin's mother, Mrs. Oront Abbott. He is accompanied by his young daughter and younger son. His greatly improved health in later years rejoices all his friends.

Marcus A. Watson and his wife, who have been able of late to ride to our village.

Our Grange now numbers over a hundred members. There has been a pleasant rivalry this season between the Grange and the members in the way of two entertainments given by each and it is generally allowed by the married ones, we believe, that the unmarried ones, who rather than the Grange, and a resident of another New England State, and one of a lodge of 400 or more grangers, who was present at the latter entertainment here, said it was the best grange meeting that ever he attended.

Henry J. Martin and niece, Miss Maggie Hibbard, returned last week from a visit to the home of Mrs. Phoebe Hibbard Bacon in Elmira, and on their way back to Barre, a Sherman Winchester and son, drove to the same place. We judge that some generous hospitality is dealt out there.

Judge Austin H. Young and wife of Minneapolis, who visit here as always, were welcome last week on their way home.

Our creamery patrons got twenty cents a pound for butter fat made in July.

Mrs. John M. Duffins and children returned last week from their old home visit in Waterbury.

Mrs. Harry Fogg who, and to say, has had so much trouble with cancer in later years, having two or three times undergone removal of them, is again very feeble from the same cause.

Hilton Brush will return to Kimball Union Academy, Meriden, N. H., and Mayo Lynde to Brigham Academy, Bakersfield, for his fall term.

Mrs. William J. Pratt has a large bright blooming carnations that have just been sold in our village.

James M. Beckett has bought the house of the late Charles H. Perry. Price some $1200 and it is said the property must be replaced for less than $1800 to $2000.

The Elliott Brothers have just sold their granite plant, to be owned and operated by an Italian firm from Barre, Vt., who have had the high place in the Elliott Brothers' business methods and products, will find a welcome indeed.

Mrs. Julia Wick Blanchard and daughter, Miss Nellie, have been visiting the family of William Lindsay in Quebec of late.

Melvin E. Burnham has been laid off from work at the Grange-Beckett Company's granite plant, and is now at home, having the forefinger of his left hand caught and badly jammed in turning a block of granite.

Prof. Lentini, an Italian music teacher of Barre, has ten or more pupils here of both Americans and Italians, on the violin, mandolin and guitar.

We believe our town has been noted for some scores of years for its musical talent and achievement, considering its size and opportunities. It is a pleasure to see our singers and their work at our late centennial. The large number of them and from four church choirs—persons many of whom have been in the choir for many years—yes, it all was an occasion for honest pride as we listened to them in chorus and in song.

Also, of the charm of the songs by Mrs. Kati: Brue Field and Miss Grace, daughter of George Harrington, now of Princeton, Illinois, rendered with such feeling, as these singers, to gladden such occasions here or elsewhere.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lamborn of Burlington and Mrs. Merton G. Robbins, who have been staying at the Grange House, have returned to their respective homes.

G. H. Smith, who has been at the Gulf House since July 1, has returned to Montpelier.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Smith are taking an outing with friends in Barre, Land.

A recent issue of the Bureau County Republican of Princeton, Ill., contains an account of the marriage of two persons, considered, it says, "among the most worthy of Princeton." The bride, Mrs. Edwin C. Casey and Miss Lora Gale, daughter of our town, to Mr. Nathaniel and Mrs. Rebecca Lynde Simmons, now residents of Princeton.

The wedding, which was the first ever held in Princeton, was held at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Edwin C. Casey, on Wednesday evening, July 25, at 8 o'clock. The bride was attended by her mother, Mrs. Edwin C. Casey, and her sister, Miss Lora Gale. The groom was attended by his father, Mr. Nathaniel Simmons, and his brother, Mr. Edwin C. Simmons.

The wedding was a very simple one, and was attended by a large number of friends. The bride and groom were married by Rev. Mr. H. J. Martin, and the ceremony was very quiet and intimate.

The bride and groom were both very happy, and the wedding was a very successful one. The bride and groom were both very happy, and the wedding was a very successful one.

George Dalrymple, senior member of the Dalrymple Iron Works of Fair Haven, was in town on Wednesday and Thursday to make specifications for the construction of a new penstock at the Northport farm, to convey the water to furnish power for the new electric light plant. Before his departure Mr. Dalrymple gave Mr. Beckley a price at which his company would build the penstock and construct the penstock and also furnish and place in position a 150 horse power motor.

The Northport family have under consideration the building of a large new barn to replace the one recently destroyed by fire. They will also rebuild the house with ground floor plan similar to the one destroyed. If the former walls and basement are found intact. If it is found that these will have to be rebuilt a cottage house on a different plan will be built.

The young ladies of the Congregational society held a social at the home of Mrs. H. E. Elson on Friday evening, August 31. If unpleasant weather should prevail the company will be entertained indoors. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

The following from the pencil of the Williamstown correspondent is worthy the attention of every Vermonteer and is very applicable at this time, especially to those places where Old Home Week is observed with some measure of public exercises and where inspiring words and letters from former citizens now residents of other States were listened to. "After hearing at our centennial last week of the loving memories of our hills, that former residents are ever cherishing—will not these same hills be invested with a new charm and lesson for us all who stay here?"

Dr. A. A. White Batchelder of Plainfield visited in town last Friday.

Benjamin Patterson of Washington is visiting at Martin and James Newton's.

"Black" Thursdays and Fridays and Saturdays, September 27, 1899, is known in stock exchange annals as "Black Friday," because of a panic caused by a "corner" in gold; May 9, 1901, will perhaps be known as "Black Thursday," because of a corner in Northern Pacific stock; every day that sees a man die prematurely and uninsured is "Black Saturday" for his family.

The losses in Wall Street are losses of money which people have already earned, or lost in some way, before they lost it; the loss which comes to the family of a man who dies prematurely is a loss of money which they depended for future support—it is a loss of the expected, the needed—of hope itself. New York Life Insurance Co. has a special agent.

"I cannot be just proud of our success in Old Home Week and we venture to say if a 'subway' was discovered in 'regions below' she can do more, to the square inch, for population, and do her peace-making and quieting, than most of her sister towns. Where can one see anywhere around, an absolutely dry crowd such as was found August 14, with 2000 people packed in the streets, and a crowd of 2000 people in the 'regions below'—Cable cars, Be it hoped that the 'regions below' may be permitted to congratulate the hamlet that has been the scene of our success in Old Home Week of which she has every reason to be proud and 'an absolutely dry crowd,' thanks to the man in charge of the agency in the 'regions below'.
